Baz

Name: Baz Sex: Male Age: Approx 1 year Breed: Greyhound Mix

This boy is truly a gentle giant. He is big and can be a bit clumsy but he would not hurt a fly and has the sweetest nature. At the moment he is foster with big dogs. Small dogs, puppies and a fluffy and he just loves them all. He does have a thing about the lead and for some reason thinks once you have a lead on another dog he can take them for a walk.

He is crate trained and house trained and is very much a lounge lizard if you let him. He is definitely an inside dog but being a puppy he will still get into mischief if let unsupervised. He loves pats and cuddles and just loves being with you. I have heard him bark at some things and he has got the deepest bark however he rarely barks. He hasn't attempted to jump my farm fencing even though he could step over it. He would fit into any loving home but not where he would be home 8hrs a day 5 days a week. He is not overly active, walks quite well on the lead and is good in the car
