

Bella

Name: Bella
Sex: Female
Age: Approx 3.5 years
Breed: Bull Terrier x

Please meet the beautiful Bella. We believe Bella has not had the best life before coming to us but now she has been in rescue for a while things are looking up. She is a worrier... This makes her reactive to dogs. She is working hard with her foster family to overcome her insecurities and is improving. She will need a human who is knowledgeable with reactive dogs. Someone who can make corrections with her to keep her moving forward and happy She needs someone to give her the time and space to learn to trust and love. Once she trusts you she will be your shadow and you will be rewarded by her with so much love, laughter and loyalty. ONGOING TRAINING IS A MUST FOR BELLA TO KEEP HER HAPPY.

She loves her human company so someone who is home most of the time will suit her best. She is in care with other dogs and happily plays with a young kelpie, now that she knows him. Bella is learning to play, her and the kelpie run around the yard throwing toys in the air or playing tug-o-war. She is still a bit reactive to the bigger dogs. She will need to be either the only pet or be with a younger submissive/calm dog around her size. Bella needs home with no kids or cats.

She is so full of love and happiness and just wants to be with you while you potter around home going about your daily chores. She loves her walks and because of her being reactive to new dogs you will need to be aware of this all the time. She loves the car so much that she has to be restrained in the car or she will just jump all over you and want to sit on your lap she is gets that excited. She is crate trained and nearly house trained. She needs to be allowed inside with you and have a securely fenced backyard. She will need a couple of meets so she is comfortable and happy.

Adoption Fee: $350
