Name: Bennett

Sex: Male

Age: Approx 15 months

Breed: Mixed Breed

Bennett is a dog who had done it tough for a while and came in to the pound as a stray very thin. His breed is unknown but looks like a Retriever X and certainly has their personality. We think he is around 12-18 months but learning the joys of being a dog as he has had a tough life. After being desexed he became very ill and was diagnosed with Megaesophagus and an infection. He is on a special diet now and needs frequent smaller feeds that are liquidised so that food does not get stuck in the pocket he has in esophagus. He cannot have ordinary treats. He has come a long way and is leading a happy healthier life.

He lives with a few other dogs and loves playing. He needs good fences and his scenting instincts mean he is not let off lead in unfenced areas as has poor recall. Bennett has been meeting a few other dogs and behaves well on the halti lead. He loves people and just wants to be loved. He has been living inside and behaves well. Loves travelling in the car. He just needs a home that can give him a bit more time for his feeding and prepared to give him training. He melts hearts and makes people smile. Dogs with this condition can live long healthy lives.
