

Bidsy

Name: Bidsy
Sex: Female
Age: Approx 3 years
Breed: Mini Foxy

Meet the adorable little Bidsy
This little girl has so much love to give and is just waiting for the right family to give her the attention she so deserves.

Ideally she would love a doggy companion as she has formed a special bond with one of my dogs and loves to play full on. Her companion would need to be of similar temperament as she is very playful, however she does know when to back away once her playmate has had enough.

Her potential owners would need to understand and appreciate the Mini Foxy temperament as she loves the attention focused on her and can be quite anxious and nervy at times.

She has brought so much laughter to our home and we will miss her cheeky little ways as she has settled into foster care so well.

Her manners have improved immensely and she now knows to wait for treats and share the attention with her foster brothers and sisters. We are working on her socialisation skills as being so tiny she freaks out around larger dogs.

She is 99% house trained and can use the doggy door no problem, however she can get a little distracted as there is a lot of dogs here to play with. She sleeps all night inside on her own and one of her favourite things to do when she gets up is having a snuggle under the doona with my teenage daughter.

She loves being inside with her family but also likes to play outside with her doggy friends when we are not home. We have two cats which she is ok with however it did take a few days for her to realise the cats rule this house J

We haven't had her around little kids but she loves our teenage daughters and would really make a beautiful companion to the right family. I'm sure if she is getting lots of pats and cuddles she would be fine with small children as long as they are gentle as she is such a tiny girl.
